

California Department of Corrections and Rehabilitation:
Growth in Bureaucracy
Potential Recommendations

The AAR committee could consider several possible recommendations.

According to the information from the state Controller, there are 1,511.3 vacancies out of 6,624.3 administrative positions at CDCR. The AAR committee could recommend that the budget committee consider freezing the department's ability to hire all vacant positions based in Sacramento.

The AAR committee could recommended that the Assembly Budget Committee reduce the number of positions in the Central and Field Administration category by 20 percent, which, based the average salary in the category, could save $79 million.

The AAR committee could require CDCR to provide annual updates to the committee and Assembly Budget Subcommittee No. 4 on growth in the Central and Field Administration category and justification for that growth.
