| 1                 | Five Year Plan for the Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006             | Delete Reporting Requirement. The report is to put forward recommendations for accelerating the deployment of hydrogen fuel use. After the initial report was completed in 2005, there hasn't been any further efforts and there is not adequate resources to devote to this effort. | The report title, section, and summary on the Administration's proposed list don't match. It appears that this report summary may be switched with the one below. EPA is required to report to the Legislature a Five Year Plan that reflects how staff and contracting resources will be allocated to achieve specified climate solution deliverables under the Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006. According to the Environmental Protection Agency, the Agency would like to increase the report frequency to biannual or triannual reporting. The Legislature may consider future legislation to increase the frequency of the report. |
| 2                 | Hydrogen Economy Blueprint Plan   | Change report frequency to biannual or triannual, as its preparation is very time-intensive.   | The report title, section, and summary on the Administration's proposed list don't match. It appears that this report summary may be switched with the one above.The Agency states that after the report was completed in 2005, there hasn't been any further effort or funding to devote to the report. However, the reporting requirement is based on an Executive Order S-7-04, which can be repealed by the Governor. Legislative action is not required to delete this reporting requirement.   |
